Twenty-four Dead After Air Raid.

Paris, Jan. 31.—At 9:40 Sunday night firemen dashed through the streets sounding warnings of another aerial raid. In a few minutes the capital was entirely dark. Crowds remained on the boulevards watching the skies for the appearance of a German aircraft.

The Place de l'Opera, which is generally brilliantly lighted was suddenly thrown into darkness, and policemen carrying rifles hurried through the streets extinguishing the gas lights.

Discussing the defense against the Zeppelins one of the men who participated said:

"It was not through lack of foresight or lack of speed that the aeroplane
